THE HAWAIIAN COMMONWEALTH.

Proposed by the Annexationists.

THE EX-QUEEN'S POLICY.

Great Britain Remaining in the Dark.

THE QUEEN WILL NEVER PARDON

While There is an American Left Alive on the Islands—Hawaiian Politics.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 21.—Following correspondence of Associated Press from Honolulu, Hawaiian Islands of date Dec. 14, was received today: Last advice received from United States came by basketline G. L. Perkins. Among these was the Ex-queen's statement made to Blount. Prominent royalists say this statement is reliable and it sets forth in a succinct manner the claims of the royalists. Political affairs are in a state of abeyance awaiting news which is expected on the Alameda due Dec. 21. The Provisional Government is carrying out a line of defense and the work of fortifying the executive building is still progressing as a result of the action of the advisory council, a number more of royalist sympathizers have been removed from public office.

Minister Willis has nothing to say on the situation beyond that he is awaiting further instructions from Washington. All efforts to find out the position that will be taken by the British in case there should trouble arise has so far failed.

THE EX-QUEEN'S POLICY.

It is generally understood that the ex-queen's policy, should she be restored, would be one of general amnesty, with the exception of a few men, at the head of the provisional government. The annexationists claim that the ex-queen will never have a chance to display either good will or hatred toward these men so long as there is an American alive in Hawaii. The ill health of President Dole is causing much anxiety. Among the annexationists the idea of forming a commonwealth in Hawaii, in case the present government is left upon its own resources, is taking deep root. This afternoon, the minister of Finance presented a report which shows the financial condition of the government is in a most prosperous condition. The revenue cutter, Corwin, arrived unexpectedly this morning. It is understood Capt. Munger delivered the executive dispatches to Minister Willis.

Interviews with the cabinet show that the provisional government interprets Cleveland's message to mean: "I will restore the ex-queen peacefully, if possible, and in case I find this cannot be done, I will refer the matter to congress for settlement." The royalists are uneasy at the prospect, and the annexationists declare that if they are fated to go down, it will be with colors flying and amid the "pomp and circumstance" of actual war.

Condemns Stevens.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 21.—The house committee on Foreign Affairs agreed to report the substitute for the Hitt Hawaiian resolution. The substitute condemns the action of Minister Stevens.

THE CONSPIRACY CASES.

Significant Ruling in the Case of Glen O. Holman.

PORTLAND, Dec. 21.—In the Chinese conspiracy trial the taking of testimony was completed this forenoon and argument begun. Judge Bellinger announced from the bench that in the case of defendant Glen O. Holman he would set any other verdict than "not guilty" aside.

Congressional Proceedings.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—In the senate Procter introduced a bill to annex Utah to Nevada.

At 3:45 p. m. the senate adjourned until January 3rd, 1894.

IN THE HOUSE.

The New Mexico statehood bill goes over to holiday recess, the Democrats being unable to get a quorum of the house to take it up today.

A HAWAIIAN RESOLUTION.

Boutelle sent to the clerk's desk and had read, a resolution, questioning the authority of Blount to command the American naval officers at Honolulu. The vice president declined to allow him to discuss the resolution without unanimous consent, which he could not obtain. The resolution referred to the committee on naval affairs.

House at 3:40 adjourned until January 3d.

Large bed of oysters have been discovered in the vicinity of Killisnoo, Alaska. It has always been supposed the waters of Alaska were too cold for oysters, but the natives say this is an error, as the Japan current strikes and influences the water of that portion of Alaska so that the oyster can thrive there the same as anywhere else.

STEVENS AND HOAR.

Minister and Senator Speak on Hawaii.

CONTINUE TO ROAST CLEVELAND.

Shakespeare Drawn Upon by the Nestor of Massachusetts.

AUGUSTA, Me., Dec. 21.—Ex-Minister Stevens is out in reply to President Cleveland's severe strictures on him in his Hawaiian message. Stevens says the president's criticism is but a feeble repetition of Gresham's statement previously published. "President Cleveland's grossly untrue and shamefully unjust allegation against myself and the naval commander rests entirely on the statements of a notoriously corrupt minister of the fallen queen, of Wilson, the queen's favorite, and other thoroughly discredited testimony. I repeat here what has been amply verified again and again, that neither by force or by threat of force or by any action of mine was the fall of the monarchy precipitated."

For months prior to Nov. 1892, there had been a continual struggle between the legislature and the queen as to their respective rights and only the remarkable self possession of the respectable and responsible men of the islands prevented an outbreak at an earlier day. Believing there was no prospect of settling the difficulty, Stevens left Honolulu on January 4th on a trip to Hilo, returning January 14th in company with Capt. Wiltz, and found the city in great excitement and the tide of revolution already surging. Stevens attempted to gain access to the queen and try, by friendly advice, to arrest the revolution but was too late to prevent her carrying out her plan or overturning the constitution. What took place on the afternoon of Jan. 14th, ended the monarchy forever. That the Hawaiian monarchy was overturned by United States forces was in part for the sole purpose of bringing discredit on the preceding administration at Washington and on the acting foreign relations committee of the United States senate, supposed to favor annexation.

In Congress.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—The Hawaiian question was disposed of for the present in the senate, when, after Hoar's argument the message and its accompanying documents were referred to the committee on foreign relations. That committee was directed to inquire and report whether, and if so, what irregularities have occurred in the diplomatic or other intercourse already had between the United States and Hawaii in relation to the recent revolution in those islands. The resolution for a joint committee of three senators and three members of the house to examine and report to congress upon the Maritime Canal company of Nicaragua, with authority to visit Nicaragua, was agreed to. The senate also concurred in the house resolution for a holiday recess from today until January 3, 1894. The resolution offered by Mr. Frye, calling upon the secretary of state for information as to whether permission had been granted to any foreign cable telegraph company to land a line on the coast of the United States since March 1, 1892, and whether such permission had been refused to such company prior to that date, was taken up and agreed to.

Mr. Hoar then addressed the senate on the Hawaiian question. He reviewed the events in Hawaii up to the inauguration of Cleveland and said: "That there took place a certain transaction which suggested the American question, who is the United States of America, who represents, in great national and international affairs, its purpose, its honor, and its duty as to its foreign relations." The question of the legality of the proceedings had as to Blount's appointment was a question which it was the duty of the senate to deal with. The president, when he undertook to decide that question and to withhold from the people of the United States information of what he was doing until all was settled one way or other, seemed to have supposed that he was the United States of America and that whatever the phrase meant, it was but a synonym for him. There was but one parallel for Willis' instructions, and that was Dogberry's instructions to Watch.

This is your chance; you shall apprehend all vagrant men, and you are to bid any man stand, in the prince's name." Watchman—"How if he will not stand?" Dogberry—"Why, then take no note of him, but let him go." The quotation evoked a wave of laughter. At the conclusion of Hoar's remarks the message of the president and the information sent in response to Mr. Hoar's resolution some days ago, were ordered printed and referred to the committee on foreign relations. Mr. Morgan, chairman of the committee on foreign relations, submitted a resolution for the purpose of settlement of the charges made against this and the former administration regarding Hawaiian policy.

WHAT SHOULD BE DONE.

There are extreme views for and against a bonding ordinance. The city should not suffer in its business interests on account of personal opinions or interests of any city official or any private interest. There is a reasonable and sensible middle course to pursue that should commend itself to the new council, which to all appearances has a majority of level-headed business men. As no city tax was levied or collected for 1892, of course no one has paid any taxes to defray the expenses of city government this year.

But the city government had to be run. Warrants for all necessary expenses for a whole year had to be issued in addition to warrants already outstanding at the beginning of the year. Warrants issued for 1893 were $60,901.38 up to Dec. 20th as shown by the Recorder's books. Of this amount $20,571.74 is of warrants for city hall fund. The sum of $9194.20 included in the above total is for permanent street improvements, part of which has been paid and the balance will be bonded on a partial payment plan.

Up to February 15, when the new charter was passed, there were $50,000 warrants outstanding, including all warrants drawn for street work. The mayor claims that only $29,000 of this amount is all that should be bonded, proposing to leave out $30,000 of street improvements, a large proportion of which has been paid. If on February 15th the street warrants were city debt
